

If your superhero power was being able to blink and transport yourself anywhere in one second, where would you go?

